SUBJECT:

[REDACTED] Memorandum of 20 February 1962 on Coordination of Requirements and Collection

25X1

[REDACTED] suggestion that this function be given to AC/DCI certainly has merit, as does also the earlier suggestion that CCPC be reoriented for this function. To my mind, either group could do it but either one would have to be restaffed with the necessary expertise. The AC/DCI has the advantage of being in a direct staff line to the DCI whereas a committee is always a committee. However, the placement of responsibility with the AC/DCI does leave hanging the problem of what to do with IPC, COMOR and IDC which could be quite conveniently folded in under a rejuvenated CCPC.
